"These Volumes contain a large amount of deeply-interesting information, respecting places and people intimately associated with the Records of the Word of God."—Evangelical Christendom.

"They comprise wide discussions, historical, geographical, social, and political. Mohammedanism is admirably illustrated, while the ecclesiastical and political history of Egypt, from the introduction of Christianity to later times, is ably and copiously detailed. The Work deserves a place in every library, both public and private."—British Banner.

OUR FRIENDS IN HEAVEN; or the Mutual Recognition of the Redeemed in Glory Demonstrated. By Rev. J. M. Killen, M.A.

"Here is a subject of touching interest very well treated. Mr. Killen argues on right principles, and comes to a right conclusion."—Church of England Magazine.

"A full, earnest, and conclusive investigation of the entire subject."—British and Foreign Evangelical Review.

"Mr. Killen has not indulged in any fanciful or dream-like speculations on the subject. His object is steadily kept in view, and thoroughly accomplished, and the result is an amount of edifying and enlightening instruction, for which few, perhaps, are prepared. The character of his volume is pre-eminently that of Scriptural sobriety."—The Edinburgh Witness.

"The author has done invaluable service both to the cause of theological truth and to the religious community at large, by this publication. He has left no material fact untouched; he has ably combated the false criticism so often employed since the days of Warburton; every objection, whether suggested by philosophy or drawn from other sources, is successfully obviated, and the author has been singularly happy in bringing his reasoning before the reader's mind with attractive interest, as well as with convincing power."—Londonderry Standard.

"The author has long been known to us as an able and accomplished man, a ripe scholar, and a profound theologian. The book is a real addition to our theological literature. It abounds with an amount of Scripture testimony never furnished by any previous writer."—Irish Presbyterian.
